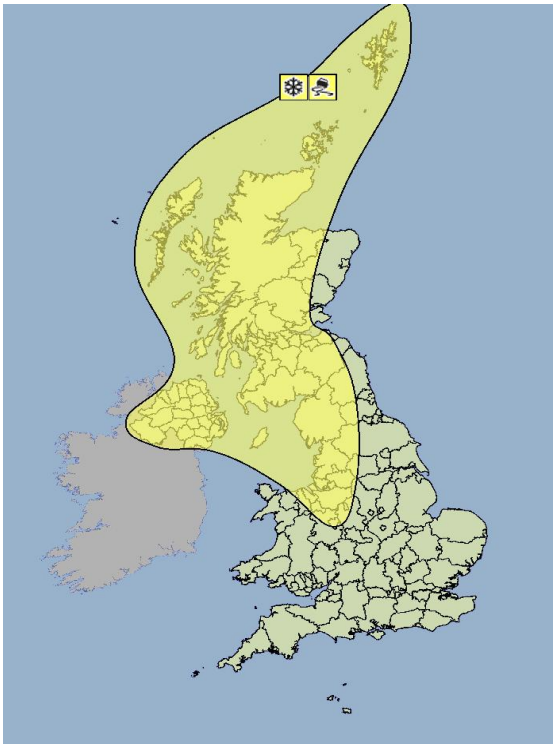
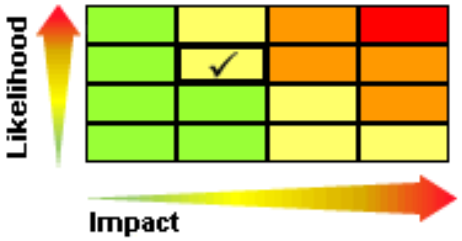
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Rain, sleet and hill snow is expected to clear northwestern Scotland late on Thursday evening, and these clearer conditions will spread to all parts by early Friday morning. Ice is expected to form as skies clear.

Heavy snow showers will follow, and these will be most frequent across Northern Ireland and western Scotland, where 2-5 cm may accumulate above 100 m with some snow to low levels too. Ice will be the main hazard across Northern England and Wales.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow and Ice

Valid from 22:00 on Thu, 08th Feb 2018 until 12:00 on Fri, 09th Feb 2018

Following a spell of rain, sleet and hill snow, temperatures will fall quickly allowing ice to form on untreated pavements, cycle paths and roads. Heavy snow showers will follow.

Some injuries from slips and accidents on icy surfaces are possible. Some roads and railways are likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services.
